AN INVITATION. The Clerk read a communication from Mr. M. B. Howell, President of the Nashville Library Association, inviting the members of the Senate to visit their Reading-

Mr. Staley offered the following: Resolved, That the Comptroller of the Treasury be and he is hereby requested to report to the General Assembly now in session whether any bills or notes of the Bank of Tennessee, issued after the 6th day of May, 1861, have been paid into the Treasuof the State in discharge of taxes or other dues to the State; if so, when, how much, under what circumstances, and by

By Speaker Vaughn-Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That the conduct of the Hon. Connalthe United States, in his judicial espacity has the hearty approval of this General As-sembly, and that while he has brought to the bench talent, industry and learning, he has also, in the discharge of his official duties, done much by his personal bearing and administration of the law to allay and soften the bitter feelings growing out of the late civil war, especially in East Tennessee.

CONCEALED WEAPONS. The resolution to authorize the Clerk of the Senare to procure a certified copy of the decision of the Supreme Court at Jackson, giving effect to the act relating to the carrying of concealed weapons, was adopted.
SENATE BILLS ON SECOND READING. To fix the hour for trials in Justices' courts.

To amend the Revenue laws respecting scalps of wild cats and red foxes. Passed.

To repeal section 2456 of the Code, relating to divorce. Passed.

PUBLIC PRINTING. Mr. Tolley submitted the following: Whereas, the 20th inst. has been fixed for the election of a Public Printer; and, whereas, it is important that the General Assembly be informed as to the conclusions arrived at by the Joint Committee on the alleged fraud by the Public Printers for the State before said election; therefore, be it Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That the Joint Committee on the alleged printing frauds be, and they are hereby instructed to report on or before the 10th inst.

Mr. Staley moved that the resolution be amended by adding to it the words "if practicable." Carried. Mr. Gibson said he was pleased that this amendment had been adopted, for the committee had no small amount of work before them. They had to scrutinize accounts involving $84,000, the three statute books of the last General Assembly, the three journais of each House, the appendix of each House and the last volume of the Coldwell Reports. This was a work of great magni-tude and uncommon labor, and it would be impossible for the Joint Committee, which had only been appointed this morning, in anything short of three weeks or a month to make any report which would do justice to the subject and would satisfy the confidence which this bouse reposed in the committee; but as it was meant to be reported if practicable, he had no objection to the resolution. The committee would do what was in the bounds of possibility to make some sort of a report on or before the 20th. Mr. Tolley said that he could not conceive that the task was of such immeuse magnitude as the Senator had depicted, and he was induced to this conclusion very greatly by the source whence emanated the charges against the Public Printers. These charges had not come from any legislative committee, or from any action of the Legslature, or from any State official whatever They came from a source that at once sug-gested suspicions and doubts as to there being any ground whatever to found them upon, and he submitted to the candid conideration of Senators if they were not rather lowering the dignity of this body to attach so much importance to these charges coming from the source they did, as the Senator would have them believe. Any committee of unbiased and unprejudiced gentlemen, as he had no doubt this joint committee was composed of, could in less than three days, only occupying their leisure moments during that time in the investigation of those charges, could at once come to a correct conclusion as to there being any justice in the charges or any grounds upon which to found them. He was so well convinced in advance as to the nature of these charges that he thought they were wasting time, and the committe would be wasting time to devote more than their leisure moments during two days in considering them. He thought it highly important that the Assembly should have the report of the committee before the election for their printer, that was fixed for the 20th inst., and it was to spur up this committee to make a report prior to the election that he had introduced this resolution. He was very anxious that the Senate should pass upon the charges before the day of election.

Mr. Sevier said he would consider himself recreant to his duty if he did not say that Mr. Baxter was a man of incorruptible integrity, and that he had as much confidence in that gentleman's honor as he had in any man's. He (Mr. Sevier) said this, without taking any part in this quarrel. The gentlemen concerned in these difficulties were his personal friends, yet he would be recreant to every impulse of his nature if he failed to say this much.

Mr. Ridley said the charges were specific and pointed, and it seemed to him that it would not be such a heavy work to report as to their accuracy or inaccuracy. hoped there would be no disposition to alur over the matter.

The resolution as amended was adopted. Mr. Hawes obtained leave of absence for Mr. Hawes obtained leave of absence for at the Capitol this morning, at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Tharpe presented the following me-torial to the Senate on Saturday: To the General Assembly of the State of Ten-The undersigned, a committee on the part of the Board of Directors of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad Company, would respectfully represent, on behalf of the stockholders, that said company was organized in 1853 for the purpose of building a railroad from Nashville to the Mississippi river of interest of one hundred and seven. niver, a distance of one hundred and seven-ty-one miles, and soon thereafter the work was commenced, which was continued until the breaking out of the late civil war and was soon thereafter suspended. At the time of the suspension of the work, about fifty miles on the western end and about thirty miles on the eastern end of the road had been completed and was in successful operation. That portion on the western end crossed the Mobile and Ohio Road at Union City, and the Memphis and Ohio Road at McKenzie, thus forming connections with both these roads, and a large amount of work had also been done along the most of the balance of the uniting lines 32,756 70 iron carried away by United States forces.

On the 1st of 515.94. September, 1865, the road was turned over to the President and directors of the Company. In 1866, work was resumed upon the road by this company, and pressed with road owing to the lapse of time and the dis-asters of the war, in September, 1867, the road, including the bridge across the Ten-nessee river, was so nearly completed that trains passed safely over its entire line. In December, 1867, the company having failed to meet the interest accruing upon the Innes as receiver under an appointment by Wm. G. Brownlow, then Governor of the State, took possession of the road, and continued to run it until some time in the summer of 1868, when the employes, smarting under the wrongs which had been inflicted upon them under the administration of the Receiver, and, in consequence thereof, driven to madness, refused to run or to permit trains to run over the road until wages then past due them should be paid. Soon thereafter, Dr. D. B. Cliffe was appointed Receiver, in place of Mr. Innes, by Gov. Brownlow, who took possession of and ran the road until some time about the 1st of September, 1868, when he passed the same to the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad Company, who took possession of the road, and contined between the counties of Overton and

NEW BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Mr. McGee: A resolution conferring applied to the Chief Justice for, and obtained a second supersedeas, restraining the Commissioners from taking further steps toward the execution of said decree. Your memorialists will not now comment upon the act of the Legislature under which this suit has been instituted, or upon the decree of the court, further than to say that many of the best lawyers in the State have expressed the opinion that the act is unconstitutional, and the stockholders being citizens of Tennessee, living along the line of the road, have just cause to feel, and do feel, that under the peculiar circumstances surrounding their road, that both the act of the Legislature and the decree of the court if enforced will operate harshly and oppressively upon

> The history of our road has been truly most unfortunate for the State, stockholders and creditors, and whilst the stockholders and creditors have, perhaps, lost everything, the entire property of the Company, in-cluding its franchises, cannot possibly be sold for anything like a sum sufficient to indemnify the State on account of her bonds which she has loaned to the Company. But we do most confidently and respectful submit that the Company is not responsible for the disasters which have overtaken all parties concerned in the enterprise. And in this connection your memorialists will state that prior and up the date of the first lease, the Company being apprehensive that unless the true owners of the road could be permitted to operate it, the interests of the State, stockholders, creditors, including the laborers, would all be "swamped" in one general ruin-through its directors and officers interceded with the then Governor, and did everything in its power with the co-operation of some of the State Directors to prevent the road from passing from under the control of the company and to have it again restored to the company receiver; but the Governor was inexorable, and every effort failed, notwithstanding the company through its directory pledged themselves that every cent of the net earnings of the road should be faithfully applied to the payment of interest which had accrued upon bends of the State which had its completion, that it would have been to-day entirely solvent, and nothing would have been heard of a decree directing that these remarks be-cause I do not like to see men run down by that its property be sold to pay its debts. Now, in order to show that this assumption is correct, and that our fears as to the receivers without authority of law as we believe, amounting to the sum of $550,000, the proceeds of which have, at $550,000, the proceeds of which have, at least for the most part, been squandered, and these are the bunds referred to by an act of the Legislature at the last session, in which it is declared that certain bonds had been issued without the authority of law, to which reference is hereby made. The company has issued and sold second mortgage bonds amounting in the aggregate to about $800,000, and has created in addition thereto a floating debt of about $274,925.15, without interest. The paid-in capital stock of the company amounts to ding Elder. Lebanon Station, J. R. Plummer Lebanon Circuit, B. F. The fact is notorious that nothing was realized to the State or stock-holders out of the earnings of the road, over and above its expenses, whilst it was in the hands of the receiver and the fact is equally notorious that ac-cording to their reports the expenses ex-ceeded the receipts all the time. So it appears from the reports of the lessee under the first lease that from September, 1868, to Jan. 1, 1870, the road failed to pay its ex-penses by $31,328.00, and under the second lesse, from Jan. 1, 1870, to Sept. 1, 1871, it has failed to pay expenses by $458,187.88, showing a loss under the two leases of $484.

Prior to the war, the State had toom !

plied to the purposes for which they were issued; and, as appears, there has been issued to our company since the war, bonds to the amount of $1,767,000, but your me-

morialists respectfully submit, the company that portion of the bonds which was issued

our company her bonds to the amou $1,455,000, all of which were fulthfull

In view of these facts it might seem strange indeed, but the fact is, that while the road was operated by the company, and only completed from Nashville to Johnsonville, during the year ending June 30, 1867, such energy that, notwithstanding the ville, during the year ending June 30, 1867, crippled condition of this company, the impoverished condition of the people along the line, and the dilapidated condition of the road owing to the lapse of time and the dis-

State, loaned to the company.

Thus, this singular fact is presented for our consideration, that while the road was complete, and operated by the company it more than made expenses, but after it completion, operated by receivers and les-sees, the expenses exceed the earnings. We forbear comment.

As we understand the policy of the State in granting liberal aid to railroad companies, the prime objects were to stimulate the industry and enterprise of her people, to render them independent and prosper and to develop her resources, and we deem it scarcely necessary to remind your honorable body that there is great danger i you permit our road to be sold to the highest bidder, that it will purchased by some railroad posed of foreign capitalists who have no identity of interest with the people of Tennessee, and thus the dearest interest of the State may be sacrificed, the most laud-

Your memorialists will not attempt disguise the fact that there are some persons who are exceedingly anxious that our road be sold-not, however, for the purpose of relieving the State or of preserving her credit, but that they may become the purchasers for purposes of speculation, and of self-aggrandizement.
The stockholders of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, wish to retain and operate the road in the interest of those who built it, along its entire line. A CABD. The re-union and reform movement having been charged to my account in the last number of the UNION AND AMERICAN, I ask of the editors of that paper, in jus-tice to me, to publish this positive denial. I wrote not a word of the admirable compact of association, nor did I instigate its adoption. The address, in company with which it made its appearance, is almost en-tirely the work of another hand.

I am proud of being a member of the association set on foot, as I know it to be for the most worthy and patriotic purposes, and do not at all doubt that its value will be fully appreciated, even by those favoring renewed agitation upon questions now set-tled, ere the dawning of next Thursday

To the unkind and disrespectful allusions made to me by the UNION AND AMERICAN, my own self-respect will restrain me from making any present response. For twenty years past, I have been the object of malevoent assault on the part of extremists of all factions. I have regarded this as decidedly creditable to me. I have borne most of this unworthy treatment with patience. I am prepared at this moment to bear much more, I hope with equal patience. If the agitators of the day can be a little held in check by my efforts; if tranquility and brotherhood can be once more restored, I shall care very little what may be said about my character or motive of action by those who prefer discord to harmony, dissension to quiet, and the promotion of demagogues to high places of trust and dignity, to the elevation of statesmen of intelligence, of experience and true ability. H. S. FOOTE.

UNION CITY FAIR.

To the Editors of the Union and American. FRIDAY, Oct. 6, 1871 .- The fourth day of the Southwestern Kentucky and West Tennessee Fair opened disagreeably cool; overcoats and shawls were in demand, but this did not seem to deter persons from attending nor affect the general interest man fested. The exhibition of the "bog crop was not prevented by the inclement weather, and the crowd present was estimated at about two thousand persons, embracing quite a large number of beautiful and stylish ladies of Southwestern Kentucky and West Tennessee. One of the most interesting features of the day's exhibition was the equestrienne ring in which a special premium of a $20 set of jewelry was offered for the best and most graceful lady rider. There were seven entries for this premium, which was won by Mrs. Herring of Obion county, Miss Coyle receiving the certificate. The specimens of needle work and the like, were exquisite and not surpassed at any Fair I have attended in Tennessee. AN ATTRACTIVE STOCK RING was that for mares and "their families." There were three contestants for the prize, which was awarded to Mr. J. B. Hale. Tomorrow's exhibition, devoted to the fine arts, mules, cattle, thorough-bred horses, what they believe to be reliable informafar the most interesting of the week's entainment. Everybody, with their children, is expected to be present, and you may expect to hear a lively report from DEENS.

> The Capitol Grounds. Work on the Capitol grounds has been pushed forward with much success within the last month and the terraces and abutments already present a good appearance of what is to be. Water pipes have been laid on the eastern side, where a large amount of blasting has been done.

PRINKLIN COUNTY.

Public Recting at Hawkersville.

On Saturday last the citizens of the Ninth Civil District of Franklin county, Tennes-see, by previous appointment held a public meeting at Hawkersville, to take into con-sideration the application of the country of sideration the charge of lawlessness which had been preferred against them, and for the purpose of expressing their anxiety to detect the offenders and enforce the laws. The meeting was attended by all of the citizens of the district. The object of the meeting was explained, and its purpose heartily indersed by all of the citizens.

Dr. J. J. Abernathy, who resides in the Ninth Civil District, addressed the meeting, and the citizens. and stated that some time ago, when the negro church had been burned, a number of the citizens of the district, including Mr. Waggoner and himself-Mr. Waggoner's house having since been burned-signed a call for a public meeting to express their disapprobation of the outrage upon the law, and to take steps to bring the offenders to justice, and to assure the negroes that they should be protected, but that before the meeting was held, the dwelling house of Waggoner was burned, the church and schoolhouse of their district was also burned, the horse of a citiren shot; that the negroes who did the deed when arrested confessed it and acknowl-edged that their purpose was to murder Waggoner and his family; that after they were placed in the jail at Winchester they were taken out and executed by masked men, and that, although the provocation was great and such an one as would excite any community, yet it could afford no excuse for any set of men to take the law into their own hands; and, that as it had been said that the violators of the law who had perpetrated the offence lived in the 9th dis-trict, that it was their duty as citizens to leave no stone unturned to ferret out the of fenders and bring them to justice.
Thomas H. Woods, Esq., one of the oldest and most respectable citizens of that district, also addressed the meeting, and in addition to what was said by Dr. Abernathy, stated that he was satisfied that the citizens of the 9th civil district were not guilty of charge brought against them, but that he wanted the investigation to go on until it was understood that their people were not the guilty parties, and he further suggested that a committee be appointed to draft a resolution expressive of the sense of the meeting, and upon his motion Dr. J. J. Abernathy, John Nugent, Esq., and D. S. Long, Esq., both of the latter the present Justices of the 9th district, and having acted as such for many years, were unanimously selected as a committee to draft and report a suitable resolution, and, after a short retirement, reported the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the committee who commenced their investigation in our district, on last Tuesday, are cordially invited to continue their labors; and we, the citizens of the 9th civil district, pledge ourselves to render them every assistance in our power, to facilitate the same, and we only ask them not to take it for granted that guilt lives only in the 9th civil district, but that they will pursue their investigation impartially as to places and persons." J. J. ABERNATHY,

JOHN NUGENT, After the adoption of the resolution the meeting, adjourned and the determination among all the citizens to have the law inforced and the reputation of their district vindicated was general, and they pledged themselves to co-operate for that purpose. The reputation of the Ninth Civil District for order has heretofore been as high as that of any community, and they deeply feel the injustice of imputing to them a crime, without proof, which was perpetrated welve miles from them, and they feel this the more keenly since, while the charge is remembered against them, their misfortune laid in ashes is forgotten.

Do not fancy because you feel strong that you are impregnable to sickness. Whole neighborhoods are frequently prostrated at this season by malarious fevers. Vigorous muscles and strong On Tuesday, Oct. 31, 1871. sinews, broad shoulders and sound lungs, are no defence against the mephilic vapors of autumn. Frames which have withstood the summer heat may succumb now. Many an athletic man, whose family depends for its support on his industry, now lies prostrate, weak and helpless as a babe, under the periodical assaults of chills and fever, or billious remittent fever. This could not be if all were wise enough to provide against such a contingency, by toning and fortifying the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This approved vegetable form is absolutely harmless, so that it is short folly not to take if as a safeguard at a season when diseases of the liver, the stomach, the bowels, and indeed all the visceral organs are generally prevalent. To keep the system in order and insure health, or to put it in order when this precaution has been neglected, is the duty of every human being who values life.
For both these purposes Hostetter's Bitters is designed, and it answers both. Petty local dealers are endeavoring, in many parts of the country, to substitute preparations made of impure and dangerous materials in its stead. Give them a wide berth. They are prepared by unskillful experimenters, who want to turn a penny at the expense of the public health.

Marine City, Mich., July 27, 1870.—J. N. Harris & Co.—Dear Sirs: The Allen's Lung Balsam has arrived. I would not like to be without it, for it has saved my life. I took a hoad cold and cough, and finally Consumption was scated upon me. I was in a very bad state. I tried every thing that was recommended, and spent a great deal of money, and got no help. I had the Allen's Lung Balsam for sale, but I knew nothing of its merits. I did not like to take it, without knowing more about it. I had not sold a bottle. When your agent called our me I told him I could not soll a medicine I knew nothing about. He arged me to try it myself. I did so, and to my grateful surprise the first bottle stopped my cough, and before the third bottle was taken my lungs were healed and well, and I can how speak knowingly to my friends and customers of the qualities of Allen's Lung Balsam. I remain respectfully.

and availed themselves of his wonderfelly efficacloss medicines, they would not have failen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient yillality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into beatifular vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptions. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its pullacophy regaires no arximient. Bit self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Sea-weed Toule and Mandrake Pilis are selfert two weapons with which the citadel of the mainey is assailed. Two-thirds of the cause of consumption originate in drapopois and a functionally
